Pamm's House

August 2007

Behind the Scenes

Parents are not always aware of everything it takes to keep my child care in tip-top shape. This summer has been very busy with inspections. The Fire Department, Health Department and my Child Care Food Program Representative have all inspected my home and how I do things with the children. I passed every inspection and have exceeded most standards.

I have also completed two hours of training. This is in addition to the usual research and online workshops.

I have recently added CK Kids, a business software for family child care providers. If you ever need a receipt, just let me know. I can email you one, no problem!

For the past six-months I have incorporated Brighter Vision Learning Adventures into informal "circle times" for the children. They love going through the Activity book, listening to the CD, and reading the books included with the kit. For more information, visit their website: www.brightervision.com

We've also added a Beta fish, Blue. He's a big hit with the children and lots of fun to watch.

I'm excited to announce.....

Hands On Homeschooling

The author of Hands On Homeschooling, Terri Wilson, has generously donated an Age 2 Curriculum to our child care. Thank you, Terri! After looking through it, it's very doable for our young group. We will be taking things slowly due to the young ages of the children. I'm looking forward to a year of learning and fun. For more information: www.handsonhomeschooling.com

If you find time, please send a thank you email to Terri:

Don't forget to show hospitality to strangers, for some who have done this have entertained angels without realizing it!
